Cabin coordinates 63° 16.958' N, 10° 54.283' E

Cabin directions The cabin can be found on Google maps, search for Duddelibu. It is located approximately 50 km from Trondheim city center. The parking lot which should be used is along Fv963 from Hommelvik. It is on the right just after the Haukåtjenna lake. (Coordinates: 63° 17.064' N, 10° 54.604' E.) Do not drive the car further in.

It takes 5–10 minutes to get to the cabin from the parking lot. Follow the road for about 500 meters until the end, and then walk 50 meters more towards the left (south east). You will walk past the well and to the cabin. See the supplied map.

In wintertime there is usually deep snow. When there is no snow, you should see wooden platforms leading to the cabin.

Heating We have a nice soapstone oven for heating. Fire carefully the first half hour to let the oven heat up slowly. Do not overfill it with wood. It takes a long time to fully heat the oven up, but this means it also keeps warm for longer. Use dry firewood from the storage inside. Ash may be disposed of behind the privy.

Gas and lighting We have generation of electricity by solar panels, and most of the cabin should have electric lights. The power is turned on by pressing the button labeled "Hovedbryter AV/PÅ" on the regulator in the attic. This button is the main breaker. If arrows are pointing from the battery to the light bulb on the display, the power is on. Please conserve electricity as much as possible and turn off lights that are not needed.

There is gas for the gas-fired stove in the tool shed which must be connected on arrival. Remember to turn off and disconnect the gas before departure!

In the annex, oil lamps or temporary lighting must be used. Kerosene for the lamps can be found in a small white or big red container in the tool-shed.

Drinking water We have a well with drinking water some tens of meters from the cabin, in the facing direction when standing in the doorway out. Use the metal buckets placed by the oven. (There are only for drinking water.) The well freezes during winter, but this is solved by cracking the ice on top. The well house must sometimes be dug out of the snow.

Food Spices and sugar in the kitchen may be used at your leisure. Do not use any other food in the cabin. Tea and coffee kettles are marked with labels. Do not leave any food in the cabin. The top cupboard in the shed is mouse-tight. Hang all food which does not fit in the cupboard up above ground so the mice cannot reach it.

Beds and indoors shoes You must bring sleeping bags or something equivalent. The cabin has mattresses and pillows. Slippers are highly recommended.

Bonfires Bonfires may only be lit in the approved location behind the cabin. You may only light bonfires with your own firewood. If bonfires are lit with firewood from the cabin, or in other places than the approved location, a 2000 kr fine will incur.

Privy and water-letting The privy is located downhill from the cabin. Those with sufficient plumbing can make use of the well signposted secondary area when nature calls only lightly.

Sauna and Spa The sauna is wood fired, so be careful. A clever trick is to place a big pot of water on the oven in the sauna so you can use the water for cleaning later. Do not bring plastic buckets or other things prone to melting into the sauna.

The Spa (Kurbadet) is in the bog behind the cabin. Remember to place the lid back on after using the Spa.

Tables The tables can be joined together forming a long table. If there is no bench under the window, there is an extra bench plate in the attic. The smallest table can be raised so it is as tall as the dining table.

Kitchen towels These can be found in the rightmost drawer in the kitchen. Dirty towels must be taken back home, cleaned and returned to the Kæbbinbåss together with the keys after the trip.

Fire alarm There is a fire alarm on the attic (the pillar by the ladder). Check that the batteries are slotted in and that they work.

Waste Waste can be disposed of in the containers by the main road, some distance back towards Hommelvik on the left. Alternatively, they may be brought back to the city.

*Paying member of a scouting group.

Notice! Duddelibu is a privately owned cabin, not a Koie. We hope you remember this when the party goes on deep into the night... When you leave, the cabin should look as it did when you arrived. Broken items must be replaced and extra clean up after the stay will incur extra costs on the renter (500 kr per started hour).
